Higher Court Holds Manteno Bankers Liable

Campbell Brothers Win Appeal Over Violation Of Trust

A decision holding that Fred La Rocque and Frank W. Wright of Manteno, and the heirs and legatees of their estates, are liable for the full amount of the Campbell trust fund has been handed down by the appellate court at Ottawa.

The decision is the result of a suit by Charles B. Campbell of Indianapolis and Pleasant Whipple Campbell of Buffalo vs. the above named former officers of the Citizens State Bank of Manteno, the bank receiver and others.

The suit arose from the fact that the will of Winfield S. Campbell, founder and one of the directors of the Manteno bank, established by his will a trust fund for his grandsons, the Campbell brothers above named.

Over Trust Fund

The will named Wright, bank president, and LaRocque, cashier, as trustees. They were to hold the trust to Jan. 1, 1939 then pay the principal and accumulated earnings to the brothers.

After the bank closed Dec. 22, 1931 the brothers sued the trustees, the heirs and legatees of the trustees who were Leon Eustice and Henry LaRocque, both deceased, and the bank receiver, for the full amount of the trust.

The appellate court finds that the trustees, the heirs and legatees of the trustees and the receiver of the bank are liable for the full amount plus interest.

Violated Law

It also finds that the purchase by the trustees of Hotel Sherman bonds, Chicago, from trust funds were in violation of the law because they were purchased from the bank in which the trustees were officers and at a profit, and the court holds that these bonds become the personal property of the trustees and that they must account for the purchase price.

During the trial in the circuit court here, which preceded the appeal to Ottawa, the brothers claimed that about $18,000 was due them from the trust. The trustees claimed it was about $12,500.

The appellate court's language as to the administration of the trust follows:

Ship Torpedoed Off No. Carolina Coast Sunday

Thirteen Survivors Of The Allan Jackson In Norfolk Hospital

Norfolk, Va., Jan. 19.—(UP)—Twenty-three of a crew of 36 men apparently drowned or were burned to death Sunday morning when the American tanker Allan Jackson was torpedoed by a submarine, burst into flames and sank within five minutes off the North Carolina coast, the fifth naval district revealed today.

It was the third merchant ship sunk within five days close to the Atlantic seaboard. These attacks by enemy submarines, and other sinkings in the North Atlantic indicated that the Germans were stepping up their submarine warfare.

13 Known Survivors

There were only 13 known survivors of the Allan Jackson's crew. Six of them, including the skipper and two of his mates, were in the naval hospital here for treatment of "serious injuries."

Four bodies were picked up in the water by a vessel that brought the survivors here last night. There was little hope that any of the rest of the crew survived. The others, it was feared, were trapped and cremated when the Standard Oil tanker became a pyre with flames shooting 100 feet into the air immediately upon being struck by two torpedoes.

The survivors told of sitting helplessly in the one lifeboat which they were able to launch while their shipmates screamed and burned to death on deck or struggled in flag-wrapped water around the sinking tanker.

The other two ships sunk since last Wednesday were the Panama-registered tanker Norwest, torpedoed three times off the eastern end of Long Island, and the Coimbra, a tanker flying the flag of an allied nation, sunk about 75 miles from the port of New York. Two of the Norwest's crew unaccounted for, and 39 have been rescued. The number rescued from the Coimbra has not been revealed.

U-Boat Tactics

The tactics of the attacking submarine were the same in all three cases—the launching of more than one torpedo at the boat without warning.

First news of the new sinking was released last night by the office of the commandant of the fifth naval district.

Firemen Detect 2 Children Giving False Alarms

Firemen were called at 11:17 o'clock Sunday morning to 132 South Fourth avenue to extinguish a fire, but found no such number nor was there any fire in the vicinity.

Investigation by Fire Chief Roy Marquart disclosed that Paul White, 11, 126 North Fourth avenue, turned in the alarm, using a telephone at the Russell Powers grocery on West Court street.

Seven minutes before, a small girl had attempted to turn in an alarm from a telephone in the Phillips 66 station at East and Court streets, but the ruse was detected and the trucks did not answer this call.

Questioned at the station, the boy admitted that he called the fire department but said he saw smoke in that vicinity. He later was released to the custody of his mother, Mrs. Thomas White.

Chief Marquart today warned that such events cannot be passed off lightly as childish pranks. At that hour Sunday, church-goers were on the street and lives were endangered when fire trucks passed through heavy traffic. A state law provides a fine or jail sentence or both for persons turning in false alarms.

Prison Chaplain Talks At St. Rose

"Crime and Religion" is to be the subject of an address by the Catholic chaplain of the state penitentiary at Joliet on Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock in the basement hall of St. Rose church.

The discussion will be carried on by Maynard C. Krueger, Paul H. Douglas and Dr. Henry S. Bloch, experts in economics and political science.

They are members of one of the oldest educational features on the national networks still considered one of the most popular.

Kiwanians Sidney Fousle, R. S. Gordon, Donald Gray, George Pierol, Howard Moore, Monroe Curtis, C. A. Mueller and E. A. Curry will serve as ushers.

Exert Pressure On Two Nations To Line Up

Propose Status Of Non-Belligerents To All United Nations

By JOHN P. MC KNIGHT

Rio De Janeiro, Jan. 19.—(AP)—Mexico presented a proposal to the Pan American conference today to extend to all the united nations the status of non-belligerents in their fight against the axis powers.

Led by Argentina, most of the Latin American countries already have declared the United States a non-belligerent. Among other things, this means that United States warships can enter and leave their ports at will, free of the regulation forcing ships to limit their stays to 24 hours.

The proposal came as the foreign ministers of 19 American republics exerted pressure on Argentina and Chile to line up in a solid western hemisphere severance of relations with the totalitarian nations.

Compromise Proposal

Argentine sources said their delegation wished to present a compromise proposal, but was careful to ascertain whether any of the suggested had a chance of success.

The United States presented six proposals dealing with subversive activities; the Red Cross; improvement of health and sanitation; establishment of a committee to deal with judicial and postwar problems; aviation; and communications.

The first outlined numerous measures to be taken against potential fifth columnists and the control of all foreigners. It recommended the creation of a "consultative emergency committee for political defense" to coordinate these measures.

School Directors Of County Invited To State Meet

3 Injured In 8 Week-End Auto Crashes

Child Falls Out Of Moving Car; 3 Autos Collide On Court St.

Three persons were injured in eight auto crashes occurring in this vicinity last week-end.

Two were seriously injured early Sunday morning when their auto crashed head-on into a subvert on highway 17, about 14 miles west of Kankakee.

They were Jesse N. Thorgerson, 32, of Dwight, who had a lacerated cheek, broken ankle and possible skull fracture; and Orville H. Palmer, 27, route 1, Reddick, who had a hole in his neck and a wound over one eye, among other hurts.

The men were pinned in the car when the motor was shoved under the front seat. They lay conscious, but helpless, for more than an hour before passing motorists noticed them and notified police.

State Highway Officers—Edward Goetzler and Ralph Mann brought them to St. Mary hospital.

5-year-old Boy

Gene Donley, 5, of Kempton, received treatment at the infirmary Sunday evening for face injuries sustained when he fell out of a car.

In five accidents within the city limits, no one was injured. Three machines were involved in a crash in the 800 block on East Court street Saturday evening. As Arden Blanke, 1080 South Myrtle avenue, made a left turn out of the alley and headed east on Court street, he backed into the rear of another motorist, Edwin Pleake of Wichita, backed from the south curb, while the third driver, Harvey Brabel of St. Anne attempted to go between the other two and collided with the Blanke car.

Motorists involved in other crashes included James Erschen, 330 South Nelson avenue, and Arthur Phelps, 866 South Myrtle avenue, at Hickory and Wall; C. A. Andrews, 112 East Court street, and the parked car of Russell Mathy, 331 North Greenwood avenue, in front of the latter's house; William Miller, 230 Fairmont avenue, and Herman Street, colored, 414 East Water street, at Greenwood and Court; Robert Hoch, 1308 West Station street, and Fred Koenig, St. Anne, at Station and Fifth; R. C. Hager, 233 North Greenwood avenue, and John Wilson, Grant Park, at Court and Dearborn avenues.

Mrs. Hemstreet, Daughter Of 1st Mayor, Dies

Mrs. Alice B. Hemstreet, 71, of 292 South Rosewood avenue, daughter of Kankakee's first mayor, Thomas Philip Bonfield, died Saturday afternoon in Los Angeles where she had gone Jan. 10 to spend the winter. She was ill only a short time of double pneumonia.

A life resident of Kankakee, she was born Feb. 14, 1870. Her father was an attorney active in the organization and construction of the Kankakee and Illinois River railroad, now a part of the New York Central system, and also in the promotion of several other lines here. He was elected president (mayor) of the village board of Kankakee shortly after it was incorporated in 1855. He also was state senator and supporter in securing Kankakee as the location of the state hospital.

Funeral arrangements for Mrs. Hemstreet are incomplete. The widow of Frank Hemstreet, she is survived by a son Bonfield V. of Kankakee and three grandchildren.

Bandits Get $7 In Robbery Of Farmhouse Near Donovan

Watseka, Jan. 19.—(RN Special)—Two men armed with shotguns held up and robbed Mr. and Mrs. J. Anderson of $7 at their farm home, six miles northeast of Donovan, about 7 o'clock Saturday evening.

Reports made to Sheriff Guy E. Redman yesterday indicated one was attired in a bathrobe and his face was masked with a handkerchief. When the Andersons answered his knocked at the door, he stepped inside, asked for money and warned "if there's any funny business we'll blow your brains out." His partner remained outside with his shotgun pointed through the bay window.

Mr. Anderson walked across the room to a cabinet, took $7 out of a drawer and handed it to the robber, who backed away and fled. No trace has been found of the pair.

Habitual Drunk

On Sunday, Sheriff Redman arrested Omer Garner at Onarga for habitual drunkenness. His trial has not yet been set.

John Bills, Watseka, was released from the county jail yesterday after completing his sentence of 16 days for drunkenness. John Host of Chicago was freed after a 10-day sentence for trespassing while hunting in this vicinity.

Good Books—Not Junk—Are Wanted For Men In Camps

Have you some books that you know are good—that you are willing to give to soldiers, sailors and marines? This is the appeal going out to Kankakeans as the victory book campaign began here today.

Collection boxes have been placed in numerous convenient locations about the city under the direction of an organization headed by Miss Dorothy Brown, public librarian.

Adventure, detective stories, best sellers, recent non-fiction and attractive editions of classics are popular among the men in training camps. Contemporary biography, travel and recent technical and scientific books are also welcome.

On the other hand, philosophy, poetry that was the rage in grand-ma's day, love stories and scholarly tomes bound in sheepskin will get a lukewarm reception from the servicemen.

"We do not want attic cleanings in this drive," said Miss Brown. "What is read in private homes, won't be read in camps."

Books should be in good condition, although those slightly worn will be acceptable. They indicate the book has been popular with the owner.

Mark Twain, Poe, Shakespeare, Dumas and Woodhouse are favorites, according to one camp librarian.

Omit Magazines

Magazines are not being collected in the drive. The government has provided magazine subscriptions for the camps.

Copies of the Readers Digest and the 25-cent pocket book editions are welcome.

British Must Make Final Stand Soon

Acknowledge 15-Mile Retreat In Johore's Central Sector

BULLETIN
Melbourne, Australia, Jan. 19.—(AP)—Australia's imperial forces, rushed to the aid of hard-pressed Indian troops in the Muar river bridge zone northwest of Singapore, were declared today to have stopped off almost ceaseless assaults.

"Australians are holding their ground everywhere," Major General Gordon Bennett, commander of the Australian imperials, reported to War Minister Francis Forde.

Bennett said his troops were "sent to stabilize the position in the Muar river area, where Indian troops have been forced to give ground under enemy pressure."

"Almost immediately after the Australians had taken up positions the enemy launched a vigorous tank attack which was beaten off by our troops," Bennett's report to Army Minister Francis Forde said. "The enemy lost eight tanks."

"Again this morning—Monday—the enemy attacked and attacked again, and again were defeated by our troops. Australians are holding their ground everywhere."

BULLETIN
Rangoon, Burma, Jan. 19.—(AP)—British forces have withdrawn from Tavoy, the southern Burma port just across from Japanese-occupied Thailand, a communique announced today.

It said the withdrawal was made in the face of superior enemy forces and put Burma's defenders in more favorable positions.

The communique added that the Japanese already were believed to have based fighter planes on Tavoy.

British planes, it said, carried out several raids resulting in the destruction of one enemy aircraft on an occupied airfield.

By CLYDE A. FARNSWORTH
Associated Press Writer

With the Japanese still advancing, Malaya's steaming jungle land, which the British had looked upon as a source of natural magnetism for Singapore, has taken its place as another outworn defensive concept and the battle for Singapore today became purely a test of fighting men and their weapons.

Some of the fiercest hand-to-hand combat in the history of war was in store, if not already in progress, along the narrowing, fluid line of defense in Johore state, well within 100 miles of the pivotal naval base which the British call their Gibraltar of the Orient.

The British acknowledged a 15-mile retreat in Johore's central sector.

British Seize Burma's Premier For Plotting

Balks Conspiracy To Hand Possession Over
To The Japanese

London, Jan. 19.—(AP)—Premier U Saw of Burma, who quit London last November in a huff after failing to obtain dominion status for his country, has been arrested by the British for plotting with the Japanese.

An official announcement today indicated seizure of the round-faced, skirt-wearing little oriental had balked a conspiracy to hand over to the Japanese the British possession which holds a vital role in the defense of Singapore.

This statement, issued from No. 10 Downing street, Prime Minister Churchill's official residence, said U Saw had been "in contact" with the Japanese since the outbreak of war in the Pacific.

"This fact has been confirmed by his own admission," the statement added. "His majesty's government accordingly has been compelled to detain him and it will not be possible to permit him to return to Burma."

Became Defiant
Just where U Saw was taken into custody was not disclosed. He went to Washington from London and was in Hawaii on his way back home when the Japanese started the war in the Pacific. This forced him to reverse his journey.

(U Saw left Lisbon Jan. 3 by airplane for Cairo, according to a Lisbon dispatch of Jan. 4.)

Breathing defiance, U Saw declared after his conference here with Churchill that his trip "was not satisfactory and not commensurate with the amount of risk I have taken in coming to England."

"We would rather trust the devil we know than the devil we don't," he added. "When I get back to Burma I shall have to say that Britain has nothing to give you, in which case..."

But he didn't get there to say it. Burma, lying between Japan-dominated Thailand and India, formerly was a province of the Indian empire but was separated from India in 1937. It has a British governor.

Mother Of Three Army Officers Seeks War Work

Union, S. C., Jan. 19.—(INS)—Not content to rest on the military laurels of her children, 78-year-old Mrs. Joseph Dugan Arthur—mother of three colonels now in the service of Uncle Sam—has registered for whatever patriotic work may be assigned to her.

Mrs. Arthur, sons who wear the insignia of colonel are Col. J. D. Arthur, Jr., of the U. S. army engineers, now in charge of all British leased air and naval bases; Col. John Miller Arthur, in command of the second regiment, second division, U. S. Marines; and Lieut. Col. Harry M. Arthur, 118th Infantry, 30th division.

Mrs. Arthur also has two other sons—Edward J. Arthur, now mayor of Union, and A. A. Arthur, prominent Union merchant. Both were lieutenants in the national guard but were deferred from active service, Edward was deferred because of his official position with the city and A. A. was deferred because of a physical disability.

Jail Britisher For Snoring In Air-Raid Shelter

London, Jan. 19.—(INS)—Snoring in a public air-raid shelter, today cost fifty-three-year-old George Hall seven days' imprisonment.

Officially, the charge before West London Police Court Magistrate Sir Gerald Rentoul was that Hall "did wilfully disturb other persons in the proper use of an air raid shelter contrary to Rule Three made by the Minister of Home Security under Regulation 23 of the Defense Regulations, 1929."

"I can't help what I do when I am asleep," Hall said.

But evidence showed that Hall "made horrible noises in his sleep," "caused people to complain about being disturbed," and "became abusive and threatened to strike the shelter marshal" when awakened and told to stop snoring.

For the next seven days Hall will disturb only himself.

Scene of Plane Crash Killing Actress

Rescue party members examined wreckage of the airliner that struck a promontory near Las Vegas, Nev. They were preparing to remove bodies. Among the dead were film actress Carole Lombard, her mother, 15 men and officers of the army ferry command and others.

Carole Lombard Was The Only Strictly Honest Glamour Girl

By FREDERICK C. OTHMAN
Hollywood, Jan. 19.—(UP)—It is difficult even now to realize that the Lombard laughter never will be heard again, that the beautiful and gay Carole is gone.

She was the only strictly honest glamour girl in Hollywood, and, certainly, the only one who said what she thought when she thought it. She was the girl who opposed war on principle. "No once threatened to chain Clark Gable to a barn door if he tried to enlist, but when her country became involved in war, became one of the most indefatigable war workers in Hollywood."

And she died in the service of her country. She had gone to Indianapolis to aid in the campaign to sell defense bonds, sold $20,000 worth, and died in the airplane that was returning her home from that tour of duty on the home front.

Carole Lombard had two sides, and this serious idealistic side was the one her public didn't know. The one it did know—the gay, laughing blond girl impelled by high spirits into endless impish pranks, was just as much a part of her. Indeed, her sense of fun off the screen, in her private life, equaled the sense of fun so evident in her last movies.

Enjoyed Pranks
Once at a Hollywood party, the guests played follow-the leader and Miss Lombard was the leader. Her boss, a leader of the industry, a gentleman of millions and of dignity, she felt was too stiff and grand. She led them at last to a bathroom where a filled tub awaited.

She waded through it, and, of course, those who followed, including the magnate, had to do likewise.

"You should have seen him," she was exclaiming for weeks afterward, "when he found he had to put his pretty pants in the drink."

She rode around her studio on a motor scooter. If anybody carried a packet of snuff powder, she told him where to distribute it.

Robert Montgomery learned something of her pranks in the 1940 presidential campaign. He was one of Wendell Wilkie's most ardent supporters in Hollywood. At the time, he was co-starring with Miss Lombard in a movie. Every night, before he could start home from the studio, he had to scrape the Roosevelt stickers from the windows and windshield of his car with a razor blade. Otherwise, he couldn't have seen where he was driving. He will learn from this that Miss Lombard was the culprit.

She was born in Fort Wayne, Ind. In 1908 and her mother brought her here while she still was a child. She served two apprenticeships—the first in an exclusive finishing school for young ladies, the second in Mack Bennett's academy for hurling custard pies.

Horse Opry
The rest of her years she retained an uncanny accuracy in hurling a pie and was willing to demonstrate. She graduated to this horse opry, and became the screen sweetheart of such mighty males as Buck Jones and Tom Mix.

"But they never would let me get in the light," she would lament, recalling those days.

Miss Lombard was paid $75 a week.

Youth Grows Up To Make Grade As Air Cadet

Cleveland, Jan. 19.—(INS)—Air Cadet Lawrence Kelley is in the air corps at Lowry field today because he made up his mind to grow an inch and a half taller and did it.

In 1939, Kelley decided to join the air corps but was rejected by the recruiting office because his height measured one and a half inches short of the air corps minimum—5 feet 4 inches.

Ten letters from the army saying "no" to his request that his height be waived induced Kelley to join a gymnastic class and work out on the horizontal bars. He was 25 then and growth stops for most men at that age, but in a year of stretching he had grown an inch.

He wrote the army again but once more received a negative reply.

The remaining half inch was just as hard as the first inch, but in April, 1941, he tried again and measured exactly 5 feet 4 inches.

He got through his primary training and then took his basic training at Randolph field, Tex.

He will be commissioned an officer in the air corps as a specialist in armament, which he is now studying at Lowry field, Colo.

Delivery Of New
60-Ton Tanks To
Army Has Begun

Philadelphia, Jan. 19.—(INS)—Coincidentally with the Japanese war declaration against the United States, the Baldwin Locomotive Works in Philadelphia formally delivered the Army's first 60-ton tank to Uncle Sam.

With the newspapers spreading headlines of the Japanese conquest of the tank attracted little notice and Secretary of War Stimson and other high-ranking Army officials were detained in Washington by the crisis.

But the brief display of the giant's power and adaptability convinced the spectators that here was a coarseness that might well play a vital role in America's battle with the aggressor nations.

The tank glided easily over soft and bumpy terrain, steel tread carrying it wherever the test pilot directed without a pause.

Next the tank crashed a telegraph pole like a matchstick—then, a group of poles spread fanwise in its path. Likewise a dummy "jeep" car and a fort scattered like tinder before the mechanized giant.

Lieut. Charles D. Madary, of the Philadelphia Ordnance district, remarked simply: "This new monster is regarded by military experts as the most deadly of all tanks."

Plan For Post War Activities In Minnesota

Cash For Non-Essential
Spending Earmarked
For Future

By BARRY O'FLAHERTY
United Press Staff Correspondent
St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 19.—(UP)—Minnesota is building a "post-war construction reserve," designed to cushion the shock of deflation after the war which may serve as a pattern for similar programs in other states.

The program calls for accumulation of funds for construction of public works after the war and immediate curtailment of non-defense and non-essential spending.

The program was announced by Gov. Harold E. Stassen, who said it had been formulated by economists of the council of state governments. Stassen, president of the council, said the plan "probably will be adopted in similar form" by other states.

State Sets Pattern
Stassen said that, inasmuch as Minnesota is one of the first states to adopt such a program, the plans would be sent to the council headquarters for use as a pattern.

The Minnesota plan calls for the setting aside immediately of $4,000,000 in state highway funds and money earmarked previously for the state's building program. This will form the nucleus of the post-war reserve fund.

Plans now being made for highway and building construction will be filed away for use after the war. The program limits highway construction to the bare requirements of essential maintenance.

Stassen said he hoped part of the post-war fund could be invested in government bonds. He said, however, that the state attorney general would have to rule on the legality of the investment.

New Appropriations Asked
Virtually all construction of state buildings authorized before adoption of the program will be postponed until after the war, Stassen said.

He said the reserve fund may total $15,000,000 by the middle of 1943 as a result of appropriations which will be requested at the next session of the legislature.

The appropriations would be made on the basis of studies Stassen has ordered from various state departments. The social welfare department has been ordered to complete preliminary plans for the construction of small-unit housing in needed areas.

Stassen also ordered a study of school-children population trends and an analysis of existing educational facilities by the education department. The study would form the basis for a $2,000,000 post-war building program.

Enemy Submarines Thick Off Coast

An East Coast Canadian Port, Jan. 19.—(AP)—Survivors of a Panamanian freighter, torpedoed somewhere in the western Atlantic, said that enemy submarines were "almost as thick as catfish" in the waters where they were attacked.

Seven in number, the survivors said they were suffering from injuries or frostbite when they were landed from a Canadian rescue ship. A wave rushed to a hospital, where one died shortly after arrival.

The survivors declared they saw a light on the submarine after abandoning ship and signaled the raider with a flare in the hope of obtaining aid. Instead the submarine fired on them, they said.

Pinch said each night they were adrift they saw submarines within several hundred yards of them.

Class In Loading Artillery On Trains Receives Instructions At Camp Forrest, Tennessee

By CHARLES L. FONTENAY

Camp Forrest, Tenn., Jan. 19.—(AP)—"We think we could get 18 troop trains a day out of here if we ever got orders to move the division," Maj. Gen. Samuel T. Lawton, 33rd (Illinois) division commander, told reporters as he conducted them through a class in train-loading.

He added, in answer to a question, that 59 trains probably would be necessary for movement of the entire division.

Soldiers of the first battalion, 132nd infantry regiment, were receiving instruction in loading trucks on flatcars from Lt. Col. Arthur T. Howson and a crew from the 108th engineers regiment. An officer and five men from each of four companies and the 132nd headquarters detachment listened to Lt. Col. Howson's concise explanations over a loudspeaker.

"Six-by-four inch planks nailed to the flatcar are used to keep the trucks from moving forward or backward," he said. "Two-by-fours beside each wheel keep them from moving sideways. The wheels are mired down to keep them from moving vertically."

The trucks would be driven up a runway to the end of the last flatcar, then across all the flatcars to the front one, lining them up from front to back, Maj. Gen. Lawton explained. Motorcycles would be driven on in the same way, three abreast. Trucks and motorcycles could also be loaded on gondolas, he declared, adding that it might not be possible to get enough flatcars.

Office and headquarters equipment would be packed in boxcars, he said. Kitchens would also be in boxcars, placed next to the coaches in the train, if baggage-cars were unavailable.

"We'd rather have baggage cars for the kitchens if we can get them, though," Lawton added. "When they're in the baggage-cars, the soldiers can go right on in from the coaches and eat on the move."

The school, to be attended by a representative group from every company in the division, also will include instruction in loading artillery on the trains.

Science Seeks Clue To Mystery
Deaths In Many Bombed Cities

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE
New Haven, Jan. 19.—(Wide World)—Bombing of cities again has sent science in search of a solution of an old mystery: first reported in our civil war and now puzzling English physicians—the people who are killed without any signs of injury.

The British have made some progress. First, verifying the existence of this strange death, which the medical profession has doubted ever since S. Weir Mitchell, U. S. surgeon, reported it in 1864.

Second, they have done animal experiments, showing two possible causes. One of these is "compression," the other, fast movement—that is, sudden acceleration of the head and body in space.

Dr. J. P. Fulton, of Yale university school of medicine, tells of the odd findings in a report written for the College of Physicians of Philadelphia.

"In England at the present time, much perplexity has been felt over the fact that individuals frequently are found dead in the vicinity of a bomb explosion, even though they have not been struck by shrapnel or debris."

Others more distant from the site of the explosions are often picked up in a state of profound circulatory collapse without visible signs of injury.

Some of the deaths were explained by finding lung injuries. A few deaths were due to carbon monoxide produced by the explosion.

But other cases had no internal injuries, even though microscopes were used in looking for possible brain damage.

The medical guess at present is that the source of this kind of death and shock lies in disorganization of

284,500 Draftees
From Downstate
Springfield, Ill., Jan. 19.—(AP)—State Selective Service Director Paul G. Armstrong estimated that 274,500 of the 610,000 Illinois men expected to register for the draft on Feb. 16 would fill out registration forms in the downstate counties.

Registrations in Cook county were expected to total 335,500 of which 285,480 would be Chicagoans.

Armstrong said all aliens between 20 and 44 years of age inclusive would be required to register, and added that all aliens are now subject to military service. Previously, aliens who have declared their intention to become citizens were the only class subject to army service.

Even enemy aliens will be subject to service, but only with the approval of army officials.
